Overview of activities in 2019

The CSC has been involved in rewriting and restructuring the guidelines for organizations bidding for the World Congress. Most of these documents have been edited, simplified and/or rewritten in the past year. The bidding documents have also been placed on the web for electronic access to simplify the bidding process. All of the timelines for the bids have also been adjusted to simplify the bidding process.

We continue to choose the organization that will host the next World Congress. This process is based on objective guidelines that are available on line. Our objective is to ensure that the bidding organization with the strongest bid will be chosen for the congress.

The CSC has started preliminary discussions with the executive board about the future direction of the World Congress. We are assessing all options available to provide the highest level of continuing education to the greatest number of WSAVA members.

Plans and priorities for 2020

The main activity this coming year will be the assessment of the future direction of the World Congress and related continuing education
