Overview of activities in 2021

The OHC is working on a set of Global Zoonoses Guidelines and an accompanying app which it plans to finalize during WSAVA World Congress for launch early in 2023. Following up on its regular COVID-19 eshots during the worst of the pandemic, it has also launched a bi-monthly eshot covering all One Health-related issues. Other activities have included:

- A refresh to its One Health Certificate course which is now available on the WSAVA Academy
- Engagement with the American Academy of Family Physicians, including the preparation of an article on pet ownership by immune-suppressed people which, following review in July, is expected to be submitted to American Family Physician, the Journal of American Academy of Family Physicians. Drs Peter Karczmar and Lappin will speak about zoonoses at its national meeting in September. The OHC is also developing educational materials for primary care physicians with this group
- Working to expand the OHC’s remit to including sustainability and environmental issues. Domestic violence remains an issue for the committee and planning for a workshop to be held at WSAVA World Congress 2023 is already underway.

Plans and priorities for 2022

The OH Committee plans to continue all of our COVID-19 activities as started in 2020 and 2021. We look forward to continuing to explore Domestic Violence as a One Health issue, led by Dr. Melinda Merck. We expect to continue to award One Health Course Certificates (over 100 distributed to date) and continue to update the content. We plan to launch both the WSAVA Zoonoses Guidelines and our bedside app. for primary care physicians and veterinarians. We will welcome 4 new committee members and start to explore sustainability and environmental issues as new focal points in One Health.
